Southern End Gets Showers, Fruit Thinned

Thunderstorms Tuesday night and light showers Wednesday afternoon swept the southern end of Lancaster County, but left the Elizabethtown area still in need of a good rain, a rain that would settle the dust

Apparently following the Susquehanna River, swinging into the County, and back down the Susquehanna again, Tuesday's night's storm was accompanied by wind Sharp cracks of lightning accompanied the early evening storm, and both power and telephone service were disrupted in many areas

Harry Altland in the Hensel-Peach Bottom area, reports three Hereford steers were killed when lightning struck a tree nearby.

It was in this area that the storm seemed heaviest At Christiana rains were torrential.

Hay crops in Lancaster County are progressing well. County Agricultural Agent Max M. Smith reports There was a heavy loss in tomatoes during last Thursday morning's freeze, possibly 20 to 25 per cent, but through replanting producers are expected to lose only a week or ten days.

Corn planting is in full tilt, with probably 60 to 70 per cent now complete in the county. Some heavy fruit losses have been reported elsewhere in the Commonwealth, but Associate County Agent Harry Sloat believes the loss here added up to a pretty good job of thinning.

Strawberries that were in full blossom last Thursday morning were undoubtedly killed, the County Agent added

More Showers Due in Week, Fruit Damaged

HARRISBURG — Warmer weather but continuing threat of scattered thundershowers are in sight for Pennsylvania farmers fo rthe ermainder of this week, the State Department of Agriculture said today.

During the week that ended Monday a Federal-State survey report showed that low temperatures and frost in mid-week resulted in damage to some fruits in many commercial producing areas

"Peaches have apparently escaped with littlle loss," the report declared. "Damage to sour cherries in Adams County was severe. The apple crop in commercial areas was somewhat damaged, but the extent cannot be determined until after the June drop occurs. Strawberries were generally in full bloom and freezing of first buds was heavy. Loss of tomatoes was heavy. Most fields will require replanting."

Temperatures the past week averages five degrees below normal. The lowest tempearture was 22 degrees at Emporium on the 17th Rainfall was about half of normal for the state as a whole. Snow flurries were reported in many places on the 16th.

In the northern third of the state and in western counties col_dand wet ground continued to hamper field operations of farmers the Department said. In these areas spring seeding has been greatly delayed. Vegetative growth was retarded. Gfowth of grains was slow in most areas. Barey is heading with rather short straw. Wheat generally looks good. Planting of corn made proress in the south and east

Some Marketing Begins

Potato planting in the northwestern area was delayed by cold, wet ground Planting in other areas continues but many early fields were nipped by frost.

Asparagus and some early lettuce is moving to market Planting of sweet corn, cabbage, tomatoes and other vegetables is underway.

In the weather burea forecast through Saturday eastern Pennsylvania temperatures will average normal to five degrees above Cooler Friday, warmer Saturday and Sunday Scattered thundershowers again Friday and Sunday Rainfall total, one-half to one inch. In the western half of the state temperatures are expected to average from two to six degree above normal, cooler Thursday and Friday, warmer Saturday and Sunday Rainfall is expected to range from two-tenths to six-tenths inch

CHICKENS OF TOMORROW

Conclusion of the recent statewide Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest proved many things. First, the younger farm generation has received excellent cooperation from hatcheries and feed companies. Secondly, interest in poultry production has been increased Quality of broilers and fryers is being improved.

Ninety-four per cent of the entries sold, setting the best record in ten years. Although the top price of $6 per pound was 50 cents below last year's record, second and third place winners received more than twice last year's average.

One of the things youngsters need most in developing into agricultural lines as a future profession is encouragement Such they receive in the Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest.

QUILTING BUSINESS

During a visit with the Green Tree Thimble Club this week, recollections of a day gone by came to mind. Every winter the family back on the farm was banished from the living room Not exactly banished, but at least crowded out.

When the first snows fell, mother brought down from the attic the well used quilting frame. All furniture in the living room was shoved to the walls. The huge frame was balanced on chairs, tables, at an angle across the room This made passage as easy as an army training camp obstacle course.

There was a deftness in her needle, a certainty in her thimble, a little more artistic choice of color and fabric than the youngsters underfoot were wont to admit. There were wedding rings, double wedding rings, patchwork, stitched satin and sateen.

Spring arrived, the beautiful quilt was done. Today it has joined the heirlooms A good many earlier productions were worn out through the economy-minded housewife whose time was for practical things primarily. A tribute's due the Green Tree Thimble Club for carrying on a tradition.

COMPANY TOWNS, COMPANY STORES

Still the song "16 Tons", and "I owe my soul to the company store" rings out, and an item in today's 50-Year-Ago columns of Lancaster Farming refers to a company town.

Pennsylvania has had its company towns with mining firms, perhaps the type referred to in the song "16 Tons." Today's reference in the 50 Years Ago column is Wilson, Ark., a town constructed, built and operated by R. E. Wilson. Today Wilson, Ark., is one of the most beautiful in northeastern Arkansas. Its streets lined with red roses present an outstanding sight each June.

There are other company towns, towns that were established as company towns down south, like Bell City, Mo., founded by other extensive landholders and cattlement, the Bell family; there's Bird Eye, Ark., an outstanding Angus plantation-farm; Brook View Farms' Herefords graze in bluegrass pastures on all sides of the tiny town of Pine Grove, Ky.

Many of these company towns have disappeared as such, growing into more proper metropolis stature, but their history is most interesting. The role they played in starting extensive land openings is too often overlooked today.

25 PER CENT FOR FOOD

The average American family spends about 25 per cent of its wage income for food. That was true in 1920; it is true now. But in 1956, the average diet contains more meat, milk, eggs, vegetables and fruits. We eat less cereals, less potatoes.

50 YEARS AGO (1906)

Wisconsin Farmer's Children Pulled Plow

Complaints had been made against a farmer living five miles southeast of Nennah, Wis, that he had been hitching four of his seven children to a corn plow or cultivator which he compelled them to drag through a 10-acre truck field, while he guided it. Farmers in the vicinity and persons from Oshkosh riding along the highway in carriages had witnessed the strange sight. Attention of authorities was called to the matter, and after securing substantiation of the facts an agent of the Fox River Valley Humane Society, went to the farmer and compelled him to send five of his children to school. The majority of the children were girls, the eldest being 14 years of age Dr. Wilkie stated the plow had harness attached to it, which was put over the shoulders of the children The farmer claimed the plow was very light, and was used merely to stir up the top soil

In a duel between two farmers, near Jacksonville, Miss., Sid Hopkins used a pitchfork and John McAdams a knife. Hopkins was fatally injured and McAdams had one eye put out.

Get A Horse! — Or Keep A Team

Half a century ago farmers were advised to not go longing for an automobile when they had a fine team of horses at their command. It was stated "The horses are not half as likely to land you in a ditch and you can usually count on their not playing out before you've reached your destination".

Rained Fish; Preacher Said So

At Aberdeen, S D, May 28, 1906, during a violent rainstorm thousands of live fish fell from the clouds and were found wiggling in shallow pools and lying dead on sidewalks Rev. Marshall Montgomery, rector of St. Mark's Church, was the first to report the phenomenon, after he picked up a number of the fish. Several of his neighbors captured many of the fish alive and placed them in aquariums.

Grain Elevator Slides Into River

Fifty years ago this week, at Fort William, Ont., the large grain elevator of the Ogilvie Co started to slide into the river at night, and it was considered impossible to save it. Displacement of the pile foundation was said to have caused the building to collapse. The Canadian Pacific Railway and the other elevator concerns in that section offered assistance to save the grain, estimated at 350,000 bushels. The total loss of the elevator was placed at $250,000.

Farm boys and girls were told that if they placed bits of string and strips of cloth near trees where robins were building their nests the birds would be quick to utilize the bits.

25 YEARS AGO (1931)

According to the State Industrial Congress, held at Arizonia, revenue from tourists in 1930 was second to mining. The report stated:

"Revenue from copper mining totaled $76 million, while the tourist revenue of $50 million was in second place. Agriculture brought $37 million to the state, and livestock revenue was $15 million

Wilson, Ark., was owned by R. E. Wilson, nationally prominent plantation owner, whose cotton holdings were said to be the largest in the south, 25 years ago. The city had no administrative officers and every building except the depot was owned by Wilson.

Twenty years ago the first space rocket was fired from Berlin's rocket airport at Reinckendorfwest. The projectile was less than seven feet high and attained a height of approximately 12 miles.

Division of large Prussian estates into small farms resulted in the creation of 70 new villages in East Prussia in 1930. A further total of 67,000 acres was being planned to be divided into farms in 1931.

Tenant House Destroyed By Fire

Fire was discovered by passing motorists in the double tenant house on the Lancaster farm of Ira H. Herr, one mile southeast of West Willow. The blaze was believed to have started from a defective flue in the partition between the two dwellings. The families of Daniel Rineer and Harry Miller occupied the house and were away at the time. Fire companies from Willow Street and West Willow responded. The motorists, assisted by neighbors, removed the furniture from the first floor. Damage was confined to the room adjoining the parlor.

Sending Spirit

Lesson for May 27, 1956

IF THE Descending Spirit is the story of the second chapter of Acts, the thirteenth tells part of the story of the Sending Spirit People may be very much interested in the Descending Spirit but not enough in the Sending Spirit People today like Simon of Samaria in olden times, want the Holy Spirit to descend into their hearts — but for the wrong reasons, sometimes. We want the Spirit to help us do what we want to do, to accomplish our plans, to make us persuasive and popular personalities. But the Spirit of God, although everybody's aid, is nobody's aide. The aide to a general is just the General's right arm, his tongue — whatever the General wants done, the aide is there to see it done. The Holy Spirit is no aide!

Dr. Foreman

God Can Break Up Good Plans

The church at Antioch was going strong when the Holy Spirit broke into their plans. We don't know how the Spirit spoke to them, nor how they were sure it was the Spirit. But one thing is pretty certain; they must have had plans which the Sending Spirit broke up Barnabas and Saul were what we would call today Associate Pastors of that big city congregation They had been together there only a year, and that is a short pastorate Very likely Saul and Barnabas both, along with the church, had plans of one kind and another afoot — good plans, evangelistic, sacrificial. But the Spirit said No The Spirit had other plans. The church must set aside Barnabas and Saul, cut them off from their growing, successful work in the First Church of Antioch, and send them out as missionaries. They must go to parts unknown, to places not nearly so important as Antioch, to the backwoods perhaps They must go out and endanger their lives, far from the peaceful busy streets of Antioch. The Holy Spirit has often come to men in disturbing ways He often breaks up our best plans. The thing to remember is that God knows better than we do. God's Spirit never breaks up a good plan unless it is for the sake of his better one.

The Spirit Through the Church

The way the Spirit operated there in Antioch is instructive. The Spirit called Saul and Barnabas; also the Spirit spoke to the church. The command was given: Separate Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them. And the church obediently "laid its hands on" these two leaders and sent them out. The Sending Spirit often works in this way. Most missionaries today are selected and sent out by mission boards of some kind The boards will not, if they know it, send any one to a mission field who has no sense of being called by the Spirit. But on the other hand, even if a young man feels the Spirit has called him, if in the Board's judgment he will not make a good missionary, they will not accept and send him. This is all in the wisdom of God. It gives a missionary today, and it gave Saul and Barnabas back yonder, a strong "lift" to know that the church is backing them up, praying for them, wishing them well, ready to send reinforcements if they fall by the wayside. Sometimes the only way a call of the Spirit comes to a man or woman is through the church. Older Christians ought to realize their responsibilities here.

The Church Through Men

God does not call all men to be missionaries But he does call every Christian man, woman and child to be missionary. That is, missionary in heart and purpose. The church that is not sending and supporting missionaries, directly or indirectly, by themselves or through a board of missions, the church that is not out there on the firing line through its representatives, the church that doesn't even know there is a firing line, the church that spends all its money and all its interest on itself —such a church is not even a cousin of the kind of church we read of in the early days, like the Church at Antioch. The selfish congregation is contributing to the death of the church; the sending church is contributing to its life— its own and the life of the Christian fellowship around the world.

Dal 'Bairn Farms Owner Is Judge

wine Show at the Guernsey Sales Pavilion, Lancaster, last Saturday

Mr. Fletcher tells the name Dal'Bairn was selected from a combination of names, including that of his son, Dale 24. Another son Bill figured in the name of the farm that now carries 125 cows on 700 leased acres.

"Last year was very dry," Mr Fletcher told Lancaster Farming, but it may help in developing new pastures for that section. Prospects this year indicate more dry weather, but the combination of brome, alfalfa, native bluegrass and white clover pastures will be altered somewhat to include 15 acres of Canadian pasture grass, a combination of 12 kinds of grasses and clovers.

Cuts Showing Schedule

Although Mr Fitcher is nationally known as a judge of livestock, Angus in particular, and has been seen in many of the nation's major showrings, the tanbark trail of Dal'Bairn has tapered off due to a lack of help. But two sons of Bardoliermere 2nd, the famed son of Ankonian 3216th, International grand champion in 1953, and now held by Ohio State University, stay in their working clothes, producing a fountainhead of Blacks for the eastern purebred trade. One is Envious Bardoliermere E, another O'Bardoliermere 15th. Then a son of teh 3216th, a Gleneric-mere is also pushing the Blacks' reputation to higher levels.

Prior to ending their show circuit, Dal 'Bairn stacked up a good record. Sales too have been very successful, with three of four held on the farm It's proved a very good nursery for Angus in the East in just 20 years

Market For Better Cattle

We're trying to breed good cattle that represent good beef cattle," Mr Fletcher told. "We want no pee wees Cattle 30 years ago were too open, too strung out, we went to far on compactness," he added, speaking for the entire industry.

Dal 'Bairn is a self-supporting farm. Angus have been a good way of life, Mr Fletcher added. Steers are fed out and sold from the close culling the Dal 'Bairn purebred herd receives.

He added as a final note one that all producers, irrespective of breed should heed,

"The market is for better cattle."

Sportsmen Ask Further Action On Rabid Foxes

The continuing activity of rabid foxes prompted the Southern Lancaster County Farmer-Sportsmen's Association to take further action on Monday evening.

Upon motion it was decided that the members should write to the State Department of Agriculture and Game Commission requesting efforts be made to stamp out the rabies. In Chester County, it was said that 160 foxes and about fifty affected dogs had been killed to stamp out the plague.

Donald Kahl, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Kahl of R1 Conestoga, was attacked by a fox Tuesday afternoon while groundhog hunting within a half block of Conestoga Center. He shot the fox, and was not bitten.

In a letter from the Game Commission, it was suggested the Association write to the Department of Agriculture on this matter, because of cattle being attacked.

An advertisement was read by persons wanting to purchase foxes and then have thm freed. It was decided that nothing could be done about it.

The 500 pheasants purchased by the Association from Roy Weaver, Strasburg, R. D., will be ready for delivery on June 5. Weaver also is supplying other associations with pheasant chicks.

Huge gains in earnings are set by industry in 1955.

Lee Work Buys Rhoadsacres Bull

Peterborough, N. H. — Lee Work, Quarryville, has just purchased the registered Guernsey bull, Rhoadsacres Prince Charming, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

This bull was bought from Jerome H Rhoads, Kirkwood. The dam is Barbie of Rhoadsacres, and the sire, Osborne Hill Patrician.

POOR FATHER

The head of the house was reading a newspaper article very carefully When he had come to the end he remarked to his wife: "Do you know, dear, I think there's something in what this article says — that the cleverness of the father often proves a stumbling block of his son"

His wife heaved a sigh of relief.

"Well, thank goodness," she said, "our Bob won't have anything to fall over!"

DOVER, PA. — Ronald Shaffer, Dover, took top honors in the Coatesville region of the Pennsylvania Jr. Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest with twelve Beacon fed Vantress birds weighing 56 lbs. They were judged best of the 233 entries in the regional contest.

In the state wide contest which judges the winners from five regional contests, Ronald's birds placed second. It was a close second too, and interesting that Ronald's entry weighed four pounds more (12 birds) than the lot taking first place. He might well have placed first except for a slight blemish on one bird.

Ronald Shaffer is the second oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Shaffer, R.D. 1, Dover, Pa. As a freshman, this is his first experience with poultry. He raised 50 White Vantress cross cockerels as part of his Vo. Ag. Training under the guidance of Ag Teacher, Charles Drawbaugh.

Beacon is pleased to congratulate Ronald Shaffer on his fine performance.

German Student Wins Contest

Second place went to a son of Eike's host, Robert H. Kreider, R1 Quarryville, son of A. Clyde Kreider.

Among the essays read Thursday night at commencement exercises in Memorial Methodist Church at Quarryville was one by Eike on "My Year at Solanco." But for a review of his home history, Eike stopped by the Lancaster Farming office.

Arriving in Lancaster County Aug. 1, 1955, Eike was sent to the Clyde Kreider farm near the Buck for a somewhat different life than that he found in Georgmany. Yet in Lancaster County he found a German background that was of great assistance, "so the change was not too bad," he told.

Born in Stuttgart, he and his family moved to northern Germany to the city of Luebbecke in the province of Westphalia, where his father is an attorney-at-law. Westphalia is the home, he reminded, of famed Westphalian hams. His father, Ortwin Grevel, and his mother, Vera, were perhaps a bit concerned about his trend for homesickness, yet his school year here has found no trace of that ailment.

Three More Years

Although he has received his diploma from Solanco, as, his supervising principal advises, "a definitely above average student, he still has three more years of high school in Germany before he wins his diploma there Five years are spent in elementary school, nine years in high school — "the last three are like college here," the cordial youth told, "then I hope to go to the University for six years."

That adds up to 20 years' schooling, compared to the 16 it takes for grade school, high school and college here.

"School was not difficult here, but activities were new," Eike told. "I enjoyed that so much," he added. "Grades? I made some A's, some C's, and averaged a B."

Two years of English helped immeasurably when he arrived here. But in addition to English and German' Eike will have had at least five languages before he finishes high school — again. Nine years of Latin is one of the required high school courses!

Here: Body and Mind

These extra-curricular activties. That caught Eike's eye! "Over home there are no sports. I like this much more. There they build your mind; here they build body and mind." All sports clubs are private. There are no athletic activities, no after-school activities that please the student and make the parents ponder.

Five weeks in England and Scotland helped bolster Eike's English. Then a bicycle journey two years ago through France, a corner of Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Austria, and Switzerland helped broaden his languages.

By bicycle? Driving in Germany is definitely a luxury A man's status is estimated by the car — not by the kind of car. Few can afford automobiles. You must be 18 years old to obtain a drivers' license — and it costs $300 That's why he prizes his Pennsylvania license. Gas costs $2 75 a gallon but with auto engines of two to four cylinders, mileage is excellent.

"We still use a lot of horses — tractors are too expensive, the gas too expensive," he continued "Farms average 10 to 20 acres, so the husband of the household in Germany usually takes an outside job. Some farms in the eastern section, like that of his uncle, where Eike has spent considerable time, range up to 3,000 acres.

There's little chance for farm goods to be exported from Germany. Seventy per cent of Germany's wheat is shipped in from the United States Gas must be imported from the eastern countries. "We sell more cars than we keep, into Europe, South America, North America."

Germany also produces fine cameras, he reminded, and always Eike's camera is at hand

"We were in the British Zone," the graduate related, "where it is mostly dairy, but we still had to get cheese from Switzerland and Holland, butter from Denmark." And there, Holsteins are pronounced with the long "I".

Some 20,000 students from Germany tried out for the trip to America Only 165, including Eike, won, one from each district.

Wins Friends Everywhere

It is interesting to note that his year here was sponsored by the Brethren Service, and another son of his host, Kenneth Kreider, is working in Germany with the Brethren service two years in the Heifer Project.

There are two major religions only in Germany, Catholic and Lutheran Eike belongs to the Lutheran Church.

"There was good experience in school life; I got a good understanding with people through the home, through the Mechanic's Grove Church of the Brethern, through the school," he told.

Eike has won friends everywhere he goes. He has appeared before many civic groups, and his talks have carried high interest and have been well received by all.

But he wants to take one long look at America before he goes back home "I want to visit out West, but that's still a dream"

There may be some dreaming, but for a high school graduate who still has more high school ahead, you'll find a lot of practical thinking has gone into his stay here, a lot has been learned, and Eike has shared much with his hosts.

That Crucial Moment

A bit of breeze fluffs the tail of a tidy young Angus heifer and her four contenders for the judge's eye in the Brandywine Angus Show judged by Dale Fletcher of Dal 'Bairn Farms, Pine Plains, New York. Weather was ideal, and the contrast in the heifers' black coats and in the white halters was more evident. (Lancaster Farming Staff Photo).

Champ Angus in Brandywine From Robinwood

By ERNEST J. NEILL

Continuing a winning streak that carried him through the State Angus Show, Eastern National and the Pennsylvania Farm Show, Royal Bandolier RWN, an entry of Robinwood Farms, Camp Hill, Pa., Saturday won the 9th Annual Spring Show of the Brandywine Angus Association at the Guernsey Sales Pavilion, Lancaster.

Heading the females as grand champion was an entry of Echo Falls Farm, New Hope, Pa, Runnymede Buxom Maid 243rd, which later topped the sale at $3,100.

Judging the show was Dale Fletcher, owner of Dal'Bairn Farms in Pine Plains, N. Y.,

Mr. Fletcher's comments followed closely those of Dr. William L. Henning, himself a breeder of Angus, and state secretary of agriculture: "I still believe the beef cattle business in Pennsylvania is good, we need more of them"

Also on hand to assist in the showing was Tom King, from the beef department of the Pennsylvania State University

Robinwood Farms' Royal Bandolier RWN stood third in class at the 1955 State Angus Show in Reading, fifth in the 1956 Farm Show at Harrisburg, and ninth in the Eastern National. He was royally bred, a son of Globe Hill Royal Bandolier out of Escort's Miss Burgess F. P. His owners reported he had gained consistently 2.3 lbs daily without the aid of a nurse cow or highly concentrated feed.

Reserve Bull to Hosler

Reserve champion bull, which later sold into Lancaster County to Mark Hosler, R3 Manheim, was the June 4, 1953 Eileenmere of Ash Grove, consigned by Ash Grove Farms, New Hope, Pa. He was a son of Kinlochmere 20th out of Witch 2nd of Shadow Isle.

Grand champion female was a Buxom Maid Miss Burgess that was two years old in early January, Runnymede Buxom Maid 243rd, entered by Echo Hills Farm, Inc., New Hope, Pa.

Reserve champion female was Brookside Barbara 5th, shown by Brookside Farm, Whitemarsh, Pa. Short-legged, smooth, she was sired by Bardoliermere of Den-Mor, out of Brookside Barbara 2nd. She was a show calf in the Brookside string.

For the Farm Wife and Family

There's variety in this week's household items, and chicken plays a role, along with other meat dishes

Barbecue time is coming up, so how about sending in your favorite barbecue recipes? Chicken especially Mrs A. H Shissler, R3 Elizabethtown, wins ths week's free subscription to Lancaster Farming. She enclosed a recipe for Leb Kuchen, which is very old.

LEB KUCHEN

One and one-half pounds of sugar
One pint thick milk
One cup lard
One and one-half teaspoon soda
Flour till stiff
Beat yolk of egg and spread over top
Roll on cookie sheet
Bake

Here are some notes and recipes on the role meat plays in our daily lives

Have you had your half-pound of meat today? That's about the average for the United States population, preschool children excluded. These 18 million youngsters and the 14 million elderly have been found to eat less meat than other age groups. The other 147 million persons, ate around 180 pounds apiece last year, which figures out to about ½ pound a day for each.

Housewives at the meat counter sometimes are confused as to how much to order for family or guests without having either a shortage or waste. In general, they should allow a quarter-pound of boneless meat cuts or ground meat per serving. Cuts with some bone in, such as steaks, chops and roasts, require 1-3 to ½ pound for each serving. Heavy-boned items, like spareribs, shanks, hocks and such, should be purchased at a rate of ¾ to one pound for each serving Dried beef, liver sausage, bologna, and some other sausages even drop to as little as 1-8 to 1-6 pound per serving.

Restaurant meals account for an increasing volume of food eaten in United States these days, something like 78 million meals a day during 1955. That comes to $17,550,000,000 in sales, nearly one-fourth of the nation's entire food bill. In 1940 the restaurant business amounted to less than five billion dollars. Restaurant men have found that meat dishes are among the brightest menu attractions to be found, and most bills of fare are built around meat features.

OVEN FRIED CHICKEN
A LA CREOLE
Buttered Spinach
Mexican Corn
Hot Biscuits
Fruit Compote Cookies

INGREDIENTS:

One-fourth cup butter or margarine
One-third cup all-purpose flour
One and one-half teaspoons salt
One teaspoon paprika
One-fourth teaspoon poultry seasoning
One-eighth teaspoon black pepper
One ready-to-cook young chicken, 2½ to 3½ pounds, cut up
One cup uncooked white rice
One-half cup chopped green pepper
One-half cup chopped onion
One and one-half teaspoons salt
One-eighth teaspoon black pepper
Three cups hot chicken broth made by cooking backs and neck in water
Two large tomatoes, cut into wedges

METHOD Light the oven and set at 400 degrees F Place the butter or margarine in a large all metal skillet, baking pan or baking-serving dish about 12"x-9"x2" Place this in the oven until the butter or margarine melts. While the butter or margarine is melting, wash the chicken in cold water. Pat dry. Put the flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, paprika, poultry seasoning and 1-8 teaspoon black pepper in a paper bag. Add one piece of chicken at a time Shake bag to thoroughly coat each piece of chicken with the flour mixture. Place the chicken in the hot melted butter or margarine, skin side down. Bake, uncovered, 25 minutes at 400 degrees F.

Arrange rice, green pepper and onion under the chicken, turning the chicken so the skin side is up Sprinkle the rice with the 1½ teaspoons salt and 1-8 teaspoon black pepper. Slowly pour the hot chicken broth over the rice. Make certain all the rice is under the broth. Arrange the tomato wedges over the chicken and rice.

Return to the 400 degrees F. oven and bake, uncovered 45 minutes or until the rice is tender. If the mixture becomes too dry, add a small amount of chicken broth or water.

If desired, serve from the dish in which the chicken-rice bakes. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Green Tree Thimble Club

Seated in front are Mrs. Forrest Rice, president the past eight years, and Mrs. Agnes McGuigan, who served 25 years as secretary, and was succeeded by her daughter, Mrs. Gladys Sprout. (Lancaster Farming Staff Photo).

Thimble Club Serves Goals Sought in 1917

By ERNEST J. NEILL

Down in the Southern end of Lancaster County, a group of farm women sat a meeting and decided in 1917 they needed recreation. All resided around the Sign of the Green Tree, the farm home of Robert Fulton's father on the Quarryville-Christiana Pike.

Recreation? Each winter the Green Tree Thimble Club turns out four, six or eight quilts. Some are auctioned, some are given to needy families The Club also has a committee that sends cards of sympathy to all in the community in need.

Mrs. Harry High and Mrs. John McClure were among the first organizers, and Mrs. William Pickel was first to be named president. She held this office 32 years, and the position was handed down to her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Rice. Family names have been carried on down in the roster of officers by others, too, like Mrs. Agnes McGuigan, who served 25 years as secretary and resigned in 1955, turning the position over to her daughter, Mrs. Gladys Sprout. On that occasion, a certificate was awarded Mrs. McGuigan.

In addition to making quilts for needy families and sending sympathy cards, the Club once had a large donation program, which has since been combined into donations to the Community Chest and Polio Fund.

Up to this year, annual banquets have been held at the Bart Fire Hall, with an average attendance of 40 This year the banquet moved to the Educational Hall of the Middle Octorara Church, and attendance jumped to 75 members and their families. A variety program was presented. Invocation was by Rev. George Shea, pastor of Middle Octorara, and the group sang "God Bless America." June Fox and Rose Fox sang "The Bible Tells Me So," with Sandra Graham at the piano. Vicky Prange recited a poem, "I Am Mother's Little Darling."

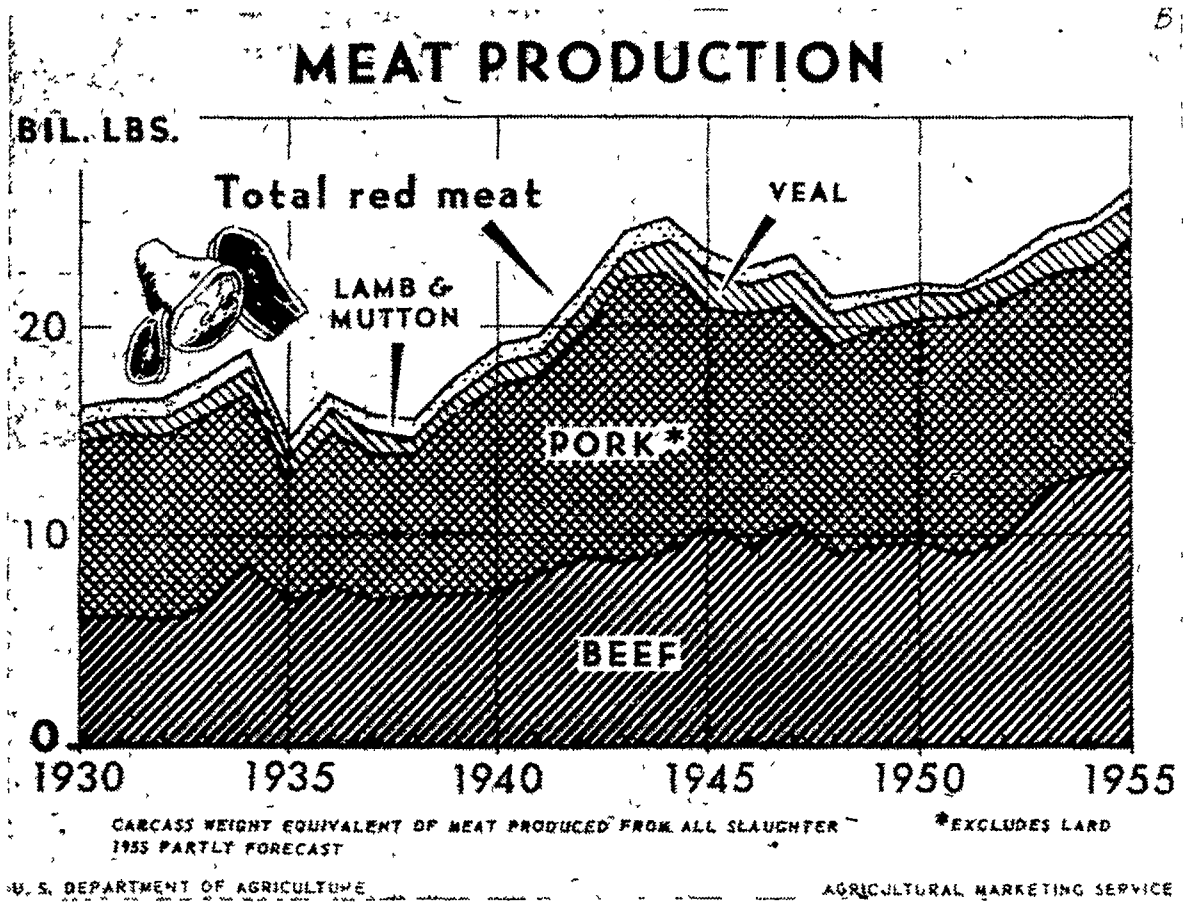
27 Billion Pounds of Meat



This is what 27 billion pounds of meat looks like when boiled down to a statistical chart. Note that a strong increase in beef output since 1951 has accounted for most of the steady rise in the total meat supply. Last year, for example, beef was more than double in volume what it had been in 1930.

Q. I bought a 1-3 ton air-conditioner. It came with a five-year guarantee. We paid $50 down and agreed to pay the rest monthly We took it home, installed it and found out it did not work properly. I went back to the store and they told me they would call a service man but we would have to pay the bill I asked why the guarantee did not cover it and was told that it was because we installed it ourselves. I read the guarantee and can't find anything pertainmg to that clause Why should we pay for something that never worked right from the day we got it? Can we get our money back which we paid for down payment?

D. L.

A. Your question cannot be answered accurately without reading the Guaranty Contract. It would be reasonable for the company to limit its guarantee to a guarantee against mechanical defects If the air conditioner does not work properly because of some mechanical defect, then the company should be liable under the guarantee. On the other hand, if the air conditioner does not work properly because it was not properly installed by you and the guarantee was merely limited to a guarantee against mechanical defects, then the company would be justified in charging you for a service charge. Since no lawyer can properly interpret a contract he has not seen, it is suggested that you submit your guaranty contract to an attorney for a proper legal construction.

OBVIOUSLY

Wife — I can't decide whether to go to a palmist or to a mind reader.

Husband — Go to a palmist. It's obvious that you have a palm.

Congratulations, Don

Congratulations — and a check — are extended to Donald Davis, R1 Dover, for his 10th place winners in the recent Coatesville Regional Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest. A total of $37.65 was paid by Beacon Milling, Co., or $1 per pound, for the winners. On the left is David Foss, territory manager for Beacon, and on the right, Charles Stein, territory assistant. BEACON KEEP SWEET

An improved grass silage preservative with five specific benefits :

1. Silo juice run-off is reduced as much as 50%. Keep Sweet absorbs up to 2 times its own weight in silo juice, prevents losses of dry matter in such juice.
2. High in fermentable sugars. Keep Sweet insures desirable lactic acid fermentation.
3. Keep Sweet increases the palatability of the silage.
4. Energy content of grass silage is increased up to 20% to produce more milk per pound of silage fed .... and a lower grain bill, too.
5. The special silage flavor contained in Keep Sweet helps mask the unpleasant butyric acid odor in high moisture silage. (Dairymen's wives will appreciate this).

Brandywine Cow Top Hits $3,100

III., owner, at Gwynedd Valley, Pa. took the reserve grand champion cow for $1,450. She was lot 38, the Nov 7, 1954 Brookside Barbara 5th, consigned by Brookside Farm, Whitemarsh, Pa. A daughter of Bardoliermere of Den-Mor, she was one of the Brookside Show calves.

The reserve champion female, lot 37, the April 23, 1955 Millarden Blackbird 8th, sold for $1200 to Joe Sherman's Karimar Farms at Hawthorne, Pa. Consigned by Millarden Farms, Annville, Pa, she sold with breeding privileges to Ankonian O. B. 13th, the 1955 International grand champion bull, whose services were much in demand at the sale She was a daughter of Eileenmere of Woodbarr out of Ankony Blackbird 38th.

Colorado Firm Buys

Another female in the $1000-or-more category was lot 46 Rowan Enchantress 7th, consigned by Rowan Stock Farm, Landenberg, Pa., calved July 19, 1954, that sold to Haystack Angus Ranch, Longmont, Colo.

Prices on bulls were lower than expected, and a top of $450 was scored on the grand champion of the show, lot 2, Royal Bandolier RWN, calved Sept 1, 1954. Consigned by Robinwood Farm, Camp Hill, Pa., she sold to Glenden Farms, Robert N Downs, owner, Wilmington, Del The lot 1 bull, Eileenmere of Ash Grove, consigned by Ash Grove Farm, New Hope, Pa., sold to Mark Hosler, R3 Manheim, one of the Lancaster County buyers, for $400.

Many sales were not up to par pricewise. There was a lack of buyers, and a lack of the more popular families, and some animals went at what could be considered beef prices. Another factor that hindered the sale was that this was one of the last auctions of the spring season.

Sales were made into Pennsylvania, Delaware, New York, Ohio, Maryland, and Colorado. Among the buyers was Pennsylvania Governor George M. Leader, who has started Angus operations in York County. He purchased the lot 52 cow, Queen 16th of W-C, consigned by Walling-Crest Farm, Washington, Pa., for $290. Calved Sept. 28, 1954, she was a senior yearling granddaughter of the $10,000 LeBaron DeLux.

Pennsylvania's State Secretary of Agriculture, Dr. William L. Henning, was both a consignor and buyer in the sale. He entered two female lots, and purchased the lot 40 cow, the Nov. 26, 1954 Pridemere Lady PS, consigned by Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa., for $380 She was a daughter of Ankonian 3502d, out of Ravenscroft Ellen B. W, selling with breeding privileges to O. Bardoliermere 32d, supreme champion at the 1954 Aberdeen Angus Futurity.

Here are sales of $200 and up by lot number, consignor, name, date calved, buyer and price·

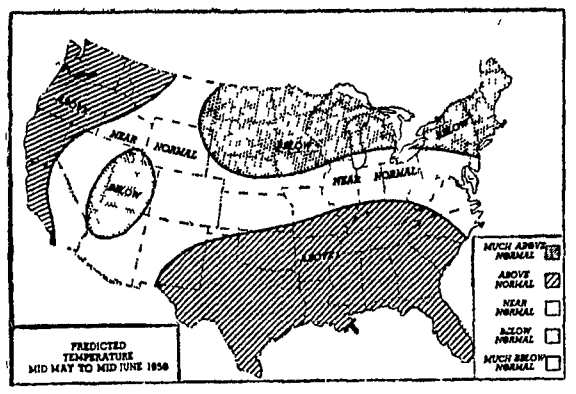
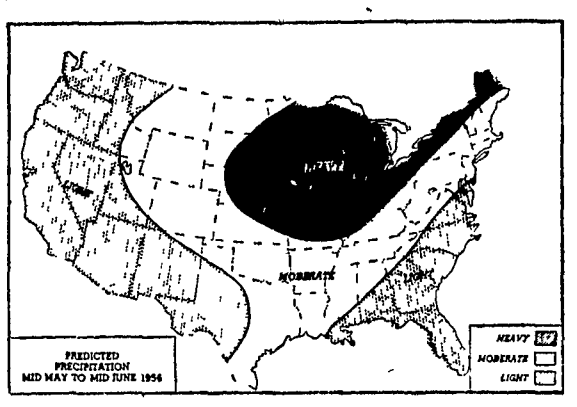
Outlook for Mid-May to Mid-June 1956





The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for the period from mid-May to mid-June calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals in the southeastern quarter of the nation and in the West Coast States. Below normal temperatures are predicted over the Great Lakes, Northeast, Northern Plains, and Central Plateau. In other areas mean temperatures should be near normal.

Rainfall is expected to exceed normal in the Missouri and Mississippi Valleys and the Great Lakes Region. Subnormal amounts are indicated west of the Continental Divide and in the Southeast, and near normal elsewhere.

SWEET TREASURE

Little Margie had been attending a birthday party, and now her big sister had come to take her home.

Crossing the street, the sister took hold of the youngster's hand.

"My goodness, Margie," she exclaimed. "How sticky your hands are!"

"Well," replied Margie, "yours would be too if you had a piece of chiffon pie, a cream puff, and a chocolate eclair in your muff."

Prices Much Higher in Chicken of Tomorrow Sales Over Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG — Spirited bidding brought more than twice as much at auctions May 16 for the second and third place lots of broiler chickens than the grand champion entry in the 1956 Pennsylvania Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest, the State Poultry Federation has announced.

A round-up of the five regional sales revealed the top price of $6 per pound was paid for the reserve champion lot of 12 dressed 11½ week broilers at Coatesville and the third ranking lot brought the same price at Butler.

At the Franconia auction in Montgomery County the state champion lot entered by George Fachet, Kintnersville, Bucks County, was bought for $2 40 a pound by Price's Hatchery, Telford The 12 birds weighed 41 4 pounds and brought young Fachet $99 36

The reserve champion lot entered by Ronald Shaffer, Dover, York County, weighed 43 5-8 pounds, netting the owner $261.75 for 12 birds from the Beacon Milling Company, Cayuga, N. Y. The same price of $6 per pound went to the statewide third place lot at Butler, entered by Robert Rodgers, Butler RD 2, a total of $207.05 for ten birds in his lot.

Out of the total of 733 original entries, 688 lots went to dressing plants and were sold on May 16 At 94 per cent the total sold represents the best record in the ten years of the state contest, officials said

The average price received per pound for all lots came to 58 66 cents at Coatesville Total weight of the 688 entries sold was 27,248 pounds and returns to the entrants totaled $15,-520 86 Nearly 200 buyers participated in the auctions.

Dr E I Robertson, Lancaster, contest chairman, said officials were highly pleased with results of the contest to interest young people in poultry production and develop improved quality broiler and fryer chickens He said that the Poultry Federation, on pre-arrangement with the contestants, obtained two broilers from each boy or girl who finished third to 17th inclusive, for public relations purposes Each of the 15 entrants will be reimbursed by the Federation for these birds, he explained

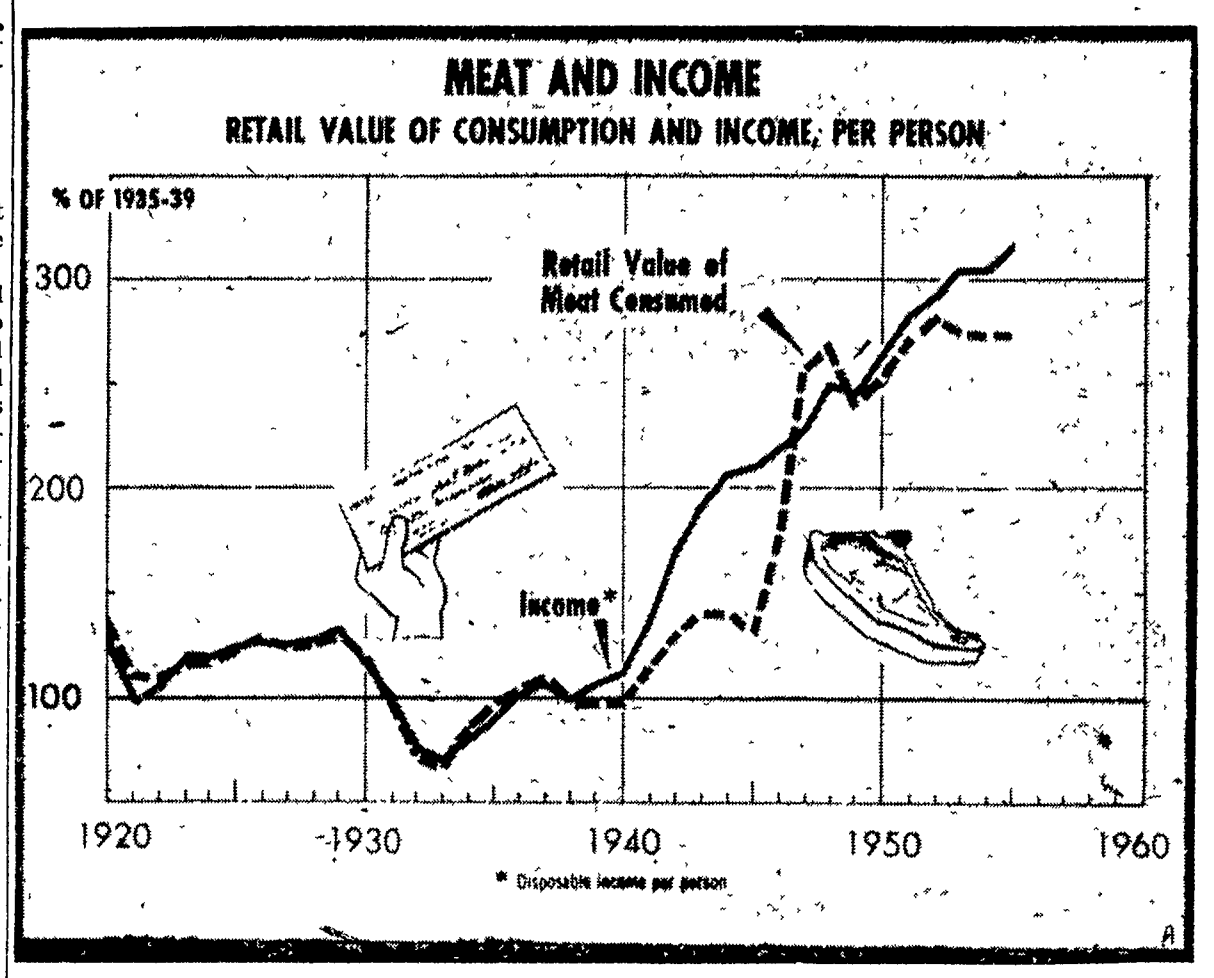
Less Income For Meat



As Americans eat their way through record quantities of meat, they find themselves paying a smaller proportion of their income for it As can be seen on the above chart, from 1920 to 1938 there was a close relationship between the disposable income per person in the United States and the retail value of meat consumed. During World War II, that balance was upset because meat was in short supply for civilian consumption and the "black market" was dominant. Official retail meat prices were held down as consumer income rose steeply Controls were removed in 1946 and, with only limited quantities of consumer goods available, a much larger than normal amount of income went for meat. In 1947, consumer disposable income was $1,157 per person. The average spent for meat was $77.30 apiece, or 6.7 per cent Since then there has been a steady widening in the two lines, with disposable income per person far above retail meat values Last year, when consumers ate a record quantity of about 26 5 billion pounds of meat, consumer disposable income was $1,608, of which $82 10, or 5 1 per cent, went for meat.
